DROPS TUNNEY

NEW YORK. Nov. 25.—(United News.)—Gene Tunney, retired heavyweight boxing champion, passes out of the 1930 social register, but Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh enters in his own right, it was understood today.

This year both Lindbergh and Tunney appeared in the register because of their marriages to girls whose names were in the society roster.

The 1930 register lists Lindbergh in his own right, instead of as the new husband of Miss Anne Morrow. But Tunney, whose name appeared after that of Miss Polly Lauder, is not in the book.

The passing of Tunney is according to custom. Names of men not in the social register are listed for one fear when they marry social register girls, in order that people may know of their marriage.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—(F)—By a single action, the federal government moved today to fill American shipyards with new construction and restore the merchant marine to the position it held immediately after the war through the approval of 13 new ocean mail routes.

Mail contracts to be let under the recommendations of the interdepartmental board will call for construction of about 40 new vessels, with a gross tonnage of about 460,000 during the next 10 years at an estimated cost of $250,000,000.

Postmaster Brown said after the conference with other members of the interdepartmental board that the shipping board would be asked probably tomorrow to begin working out certain technical details as to the type and speed of ships needed under the contracts, and that as soon as this information is received the bids would be called for.

Prize Contest

LENTY of time left to enter the contest! You've a good chance to win. See how many words you can spell from the letters in WHITELILY FLOUR. This contest is open to all persons living in the States of Alabama, Georgia, Florida, Kentucky, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee and Virginia. There will be a Grand Prize of $2,000.00 for the one contestant (residing anywhere in this territory) who submits the greatest number of words spelled from letters in the name WHITE

LILY FLOUR. In addition there are eight State prizes of $250.00 each. In each of the States listed above, $250.00 will be given to the man, woman or child who sends us the greatest number of words spelled from letters in the name WHITE LILY FLOUR. In the State in which the Grand Prize of $2,000.00 is awarded, the $250.00 state prize will, of course, go to the contestant submitting the list having the greatest number of words after the list submitted by the Grand Prize Winner.

You don't have to buy White Lily Flour to enter this contest. You may be a winner even if you never have White Lily Flour. But using White Lily Flour does make a big difference in the kind of biscuits you serve your family. A difference, too, in the lightness of the cake you will bake, and the pastries, battercakes, waffles. It's easier to be a good cook when you use White Lily Flour. White Lily is a fine, white flour-milled so thoroughly it feels fluffy when you take some between your fingers. When it's cooked, White Lily is feathery-light and rich in taste. We just wish you could visit the wonderful mills where White Lily Flour is made! You'd like to see how the finest grade of soft winter wheat is selected for making it . . . see it being cleaned by special machinery before the milling begins. We'd show you how we separate the most delicate part of the wheat kernels to go into White Lily Flour. . . how we sift it through the sheerest silk-handwoven silk made abroad in the Tyrolese Mountains . . . you could see us testing White Lily Flour every hour while it's being milled, to make sure it is exactly up to our standard.

Any word may be used that is listed alphabetically and defined in any edition of Webster's Unabridged Dictionary of the English language printed after 1908, provided all letters in the word are found in the name WHITE LILY FLOUR. All questions of whether a word is permissible will be determined entirely by whether that word is found under these rules in Webster's Unabridged Dictionary. Abbreviations will not be counted as words. Words spelled the same but having different meanings can be listed but once.

No word may be included that has a letter repeated a greater number of times than it appears in the name WHITE LILY FLOUR. For instance, the letter "I" may be used twice in one word, because it appears twice in WHITE LILY FLOUR, but words containing more than one "H" are barred, because only one "H" appears in WHITE LILY FLOUR.

While it is permissible for several members of a family, or several friends or members of a club to work together, only one list should

Each contestant must submit his or her entire list at one time. If a second list is mailed in later, it will be considered as a separate entry and will not be added to any previous list sent in by that contestant.

entry and will not be added to any previous list sent in by that contestant.

3—If a list contains words not conforming to these rules, such words will not be counted toward the total for that list, but for every incorrect word submitted, one correct word will be taken from the list. This penalty is to insure accuracy. If you are in doubt about a word, go to the Dictionary before placing it on your list.

16—In case of ties, if any, prizes tied for will be reserved, and the tying contestants will be sent a second contest. The problem in this contest will consist of submitting the best slogan of not more than 10 words for WHITE LILY FLOUR. The winner in this contest will be adjudged the final winner and the prize tied for will be awarded him or her. In case there are no ties in the first contest, no further contest will of course be held, and the prizes will be promptly malled to the winners.

11—Decisions of the Contest Committee on all matters pertaining to this contest must be considered final and conclusive, and contestants by sending in their list of wards agree to accept the decisions of the Contest Committee of J. Allen Smith & Company as conclusive and final.

Canadian Minister to This Country Much Impressed by Industrial Growth in South and Particularly Atlanta.

The Dominion of Canada, which six years ago first began to acquire national entity, while a member of the British empire and preserving herished British traditions and institutions, enjoys no other relations quite to happy as those with the United States, the Right Honorable Vincent Massey, Canada's minister to this country, declared in an informal talk before a forum luncheon of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce Monday noon.

lanta Chamber of Commerce Monday noon.

Canada, the minister said, is decidedly a country of contradictions, very young and at the same time very yenerable. It is rapidly expanding its own national personality but it still. admittedly, finds its "finest national expression in the bounds of Union Jack territory."

His country and the United States have undoubtedly the most civilized boundary line in all the world and yet it is, he said, the most complicated and the longest. His reference to the boundary line complications brought from Cark Howell, Sr., who, on behalf of the forum committee, thanked Mr. Massey for his visit and urged both he and Mrs. Massey, also a luncheon guest, to return, this declaration:

"All the world is talking peace and many are saying peace is impossible. The relations between the United States and Canada refute the pessimists. There is not a battleship on the Great Lakes nor a fort on the 3.000-mile boundary line between us. We have proven that nations can live together in peace, harmony and fraternal brotherhood."

Mr. Massey said that he had been "absorbingly interested" in the industrial detelopment of the south and particularly what he had observed in Atlanta.

"From New Orleans north," Mr. Massey declared after a tour of the city, "we have been most gratified to observe the rapid development of this whole southern section. Naturally, we in Canada know from trade figures that it is developing, but one must see conditions for himself to grasp the tremendous extent of this growth."

Mr. and Mrs. Massey arrived in Atlanta after a visit to Charleston. From Atlanta they went to Asheville, where they will be the guests of friends for a few days.

Monday's forum luncheon, honoring the distinguished guest, was presided over by the Rev. N. R. High Moor. Mr. Massey was introduced by Robert F. Maddox. About half of the 150 guests were drawn from the membership of the women's division and from the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Dr. Wilbur Fiske Glenn had served the conference for more than 40 years, having been active for the majority of that time in Atlanta churches. He was assigned to the First Methodist church, Inman Park Methodist and the Decatur Methodist. He also had been the presiding elder of the North Atlanta, the Rome and the Griffin districts.

Born in Jackson County.

He was born in Jackson county April 5, 1839, and was a student of Emory college when it was located at Oxford. However, he did not comat Oxford. However, he did not complete his education there, for his degree was procured at the East Alabama college, which now is known as Auburn. He served during the Civil War and upon its close joined the Mississippi conference. He remained there for four years before coming to Georgia.

In addition to his other activities in the conference, he has been the editor of the Wesleyan Christian Advocate, which position he held for 10 years and for five of these years he was a delegate to the general Methodist conference.

The church which will bear his name will be started in 1930 and it is the belief that the auditorium unit will be completed before the close of the year.

'Outlaw' Money, Found in North, Given to Emory

Yellowed and crinkled with age and much handling, a collection of Confederate money and so-called "outlaw" currency, chanced upon in a small Wisconsin antique shop by an Emory University professor, lies enshrined in the Emory University museum—another monument to the days before and during the War Between the States.

Professor R. F. Wager, the finder, has given his collection of some hundred-odd bills to the museum for display. Professor P. W. Fattig, director, is arranging the exhibit.

Professor Wager said he obtained the collection in Fond du Lac, Wis., from the woman keeper of a small relic store. She told him she had bought the bills from an old man who, after purchasing them from a former Union soldier, had traversed the country for years displaying his collection for a small admission price.

The Confederate money will be given an honored place in its homeland after years spent in virtual exile, if the plans of Professor Wager materialize.

Although the collection is composed

Although the collection is composed mainly of Confederate and "outlaw" money, the most aged bill of the lot is a note on the Franklin bank in Jersey City, N. J., issued in 1823.

FREE SEVEN YEARS. ESCAPED CONVICT CAUGHT IN OHIO

Will Lumpkin, negro, escaped convict, has been recaptured at Cleveland, Ohio, after seven years of liberty, it was announced Monday by the state prison board. Lumpkin was sentenced to 10 years on a charge of assault with intent to murder brought in Meriwether county. He began serving his sentence in January, 1922, and escaped the following July.

14 DEER BAGGED BY ATLANTA PARTY ON WEEK'S HUNT

Fourteen deer were bagged by a party of Atlantans, headed by V. L. Stanley, of the state prison commission, who spent last week hunting at Colonel's Island, off the Georgia coast. The party, which is an annual one, tied its record of two years ago. They also reported bags of duck, squirrel, quail and fox.

BY THE DIAL TWISTER. One of the most important partner-ships in the history of art was that of Gilbert and Sullivan, the famous of Gilbert and Sullivan, the lamous duo who wrote the greatest series of comic operas the world has ever known. Although temperamentally unlike and sometimes at variance, each seemed to be the perfect complement of the other in the production of operas that for generations have delighted millions.

The highlights of the collaboration

The highlights of the collaboration of Gilbert and Sullivan will be the basis of one of the most interesting broadcasts of the Eveready Hour this evening at 8 o'clock over WSB and the N. B. C. system.

At their first meeting in 1869 Gilbert was only 33 and Sullivan still in his twenties. Gilbert was a brilliant wit, cynical, impulsive and quick-tempered. Sullivan, the composer, was quiet, always the gentleman and very much the dreamer.

Gilbert, who knew little of music, at first absolutely astounded Sullivan by appearing to know more than the composer did about musical composition. Later this was revealed as one of Gilbert's witticisms, and he additional control of the state of the st

SECURITY AND SERVICE have been the Watchwords of The Atlanta and Lowry National Bank and the Fourth National Bank during all the years of their long existence, and will be the Watchwords of The First National Bank of Atlanta.

The same conservative policies which have been the controlling factors in the progress and success of the merging banks will be continued.

The faith in Atlanta and Georgia which prompted the organization of these banks many years ago is still the Beacon Light which led to the creation of The First National Bank of Atlanta, with resources of more than $100,000,000, to better serve this city and section.

With full appreciation of the many kind expressions received on the first day of our operation under the new organization, and with gratitude for the confidence and good will of our patrons in the past, which have contributed so much to our growth---The First National Bank of Atlanta pledges its best efforts to merit a continuance of their favor, and will endeavor to deserve new friends and new business.

Bank of Atlanta opened the new institution's doors for business Monday morning.

T. K. Glenn, chairman of the board, and John K. Ottley, president of the new bank, expressed themselves as highly pleased at the reaction of the public to the new institution. Every effort was made to make the customers of the new institution. Every effort was made to make the customers of the new institution. Every effort was made to make the customers of the new institution. Every effort was made to make the customers and the fact that new checks and deposit slips were on the counters, the patrons of the new bank would have been able to discern no difference.

The same familiar faces greeted the customers from behind the tellers' wickets and other bank windows. The only physical sign of the merger, apart from the new checks and other papers, was the activity of painters engaged in changing the bank signs on the windows. Checks and other papers on the Atlanta & Lowry and the Fourth National will be honored as usual until the new check books have been distributed to patrons, it was said.

Kelley was in death row at San Quentin when the state supreme court overruled the lower court and remanded the case to Los Angeles for resentencing on a manslaughter charge, which, the higher tribunal held, was the most severe sentence justifiable under the evidence.

Attorneys and relatives of the young man declare he is innocent and that "other persons" slew Mrs. Mellus, who was 40 years old. She was found dead, lying unclad across a bed in her palatial home when her husband, prominent real estate man, returned from a yachting trip. Kelley, who is 30, fell in love after a flirtation which started in the butcher shop where he worked.

Ohio State University professor, began his fight before the state supreme court today to escape execution for the murder of Theora D. Hix, univeristy co-ed, last June 13.

Dr. Snook, now in a cell in "death row" at the state penitentiary and under sentence to be executed November 29, won a respite until December 20, at the hands of Ohio's highest tribunal, or until his appeal has been disposed of by the court.

The court set December 10 as the date to hear the two-way effort of Dr. Snook's counsel to obtain reversal of his conviction on a first degree murder charge in the common pleas court and which the appeals court affirmed last Friday.

One effort to get before the supreme court was made in a motion for leave to file a petition in error to the ruling of the court of appeals. The other was by filing a petition in errors as of right under the state constitution in which it is charged Snook was denied his conventional right to a fair and impartial trial. The latter also charges a violation of the fourteenth amendment to the constitution of the United States which guarantees that no person shall be deprived of his life without the process of law.

The inclusion of the charge that the federal constitution had been violated paves the way for a possible appeal to the United States supreme court in case the state supreme court turns down Snook's plea.

HORTON TO CALL EXTRA SESSION FOR TENNESSEE

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 25-(A) Governor Horton tonight completed preparation of his call for an extra session of the legislature. He instructed his office force to complete the listing of bills to be considered in order that he may sign the formal call tomorrow night upon his return from a bridge opening ceremony at London.

The Autumn Salon, open in Paris this month, reveals among other things, this bare fact, that there are a lot of people in this world who have no shirt. It's a deplorable busi-ness, especially now that we're mov-ing toward Christmas again, and the zippy northwesters are blowing across this fair land of France. Of the six or seven thousand canvasses on exhi-bition at the salon, three thousand at least are full length portraits. And of these three thousands three-fifths show us ladies who had better stay inside, next to a roaring fire. Others, like Van Dongen's "Sensation," a lady with extraordinary long legs. draped long skirts. But then again they say, with the salon, it has always been a case of coming events casting their shadows before them. In other words, the salon of this year gives an advance glimpse of next year's mode. If this is true, France doesn't need to worry about next year's tourist influx. There'll be armies and legions of them.

SO YOU HAVE ACID IN YOUR BLOOD? EH? Much "acid waste" has been eliminated, figuratively speaking, since Gar-rod conceived the theory that gout was caused by an excess of uric acid in the blood and tissue. (Mind, casual reader, I say theory and the theory ascribed the illness to an excess of uric acid, not to the mere presence of uric acid, which is nor-mal). That was nearly a century ago. It is not so strange that many laymen should still cherish the notion of avoiding foods which presumably contain much material likely to form diagnostic ability, when the patient is willing to believe it is somehow a quarter to a third of a million dol-lars, without any publicly apparent cause for such unexpected deduc-tions.

Because of my faith I am opposed money that was lost in the speculation orgy was won by persons outside the United States. Most of the foreign money, even from Canada, was cannito capital punishment by the state. But this is not the place to argue that controversial subject.

It is all fine enough for a fellow to sing with Henley, "I am the captain of my soul, I am the master of my fate," (if that's the order in which he said it), but he meant that as appertaining to life here. Deploring the Double Losers.

That feature of the craze which was most deplored was that many persons not only lost their money, but lost their mental and spiritual balance, and sought solace in suicide. Men and women in many parts of the country, by poisan, gas inhalation, or bullets, or by plunges from high places, winted their souls by self-destruction. It seems a singular freak of the uman mind to argue to itself that life without money is not worth living.
This old bird harbors the notion that it is better to have life without ready cash than to have neither forever hereafter. And it beats me to figure out how any fellow who ever had health, strength and sense enough to make enough money to play the stock market should get the notion that losing his stake there puts him "on the bum" for all the future.

As for me, I would hate to love money so much as that the loss of it would make me dare to face God and would make me dare to face God and eternity as a mental and spiritual bankrupt! No matter how many millions or billions of money one may gain in this world he isn't going to take any of it to the great judgment-seat. It is certain that we brought no cash with us when we came into this cash with us when we came into this world and it is equally certain that we will take none out of it with us. So why get so wrought up about losing our bet even when we stake all in the game? There are other days and room safer games open to any man of abil- fool!"

The chief justice explained that the court would not go into the authority of the commission to approve expenditures connected with the construction, the changing of tracks and other issues.

Because of the large interest involved in the location of union passenger stations the court would expect congress, the chief justice said, to use plain terms if it intended to delegate such authority to the commission. This it had not done, he added, and the court declined to imply such authority from the various regulatory provisions which congress had enacted.

Hearings on the naval bill, which carried $362,000,000 last year, are set by the committee for early in January.

The navy department has indicated, French said, that it would ask for funds to construct three V-type submarines and to complete the last three of the eight light cruisers provided in the 1924 program.

In addition the navy is expected by French to submit estimates for construction of five of the 15 cruisers and the airplane carrier authorized last year.

Although estimates have not been submitted, some committee members believe an outlay reaching probably $50.00,000 might be necessary.

Construction of three of the five cruisers to be begun in the fiscal year 1930 has been suspended by President Hoover, pending the London conference, and some committee members expect that this would affect the amount of construction to be done during the next fiscal year.

Noting that the conference itself might last some time, French said that—assuming most favorable results—it probably would require several months for the respective nations to consider ratification.

"The logical course for congress to follow is, for my committee to consider the naval bill and make a re-

FIRST CENSUS FIGURES TO BE READY IN APRIL

BY MARGUERITE YOUNG, Associated Press Staff Writer.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—(P)— The men who will direct about 100,-000 persons in counting heads for the decennial census next spring today were busy oiling human and steel ma-chinery to use in transforming the conglomerat: mass of unrelated facts that will be garnered into neat rows of figures telling at a glance every important change 10 years have brought to this nation's people.

William M. Steuart, director of the census, said today that by the third week in April supervisors will begin announcing population totals—those figures that will send the old home spirit skyrocketing in some towns and glimmering in others.

Of the 474 lieutenants he needs to help him marshal human brigades for the counting, he has appointed 462.

If Alertox Fails In Constipation Call A Doctor

This new and unique preparation acts with time-clock precision in from 60 to 90 minutes; gives one thorough elimination and seldom more; does not interfere with duties, habits or diet; perfectly harmless and guaranteed to remove, in one action, more polson bile from the system than any other known formula, leaving you buoyant, vivacious and alert, physically and mentally.

These are but a few of the distinct advantages of Alertox, which flushes the alimentary tract, reestablishes a natural, healthy liver and bowel action and is much quicker and far more effective than calomel, olls and nauseating cathartics that merely goad the liver and work you to death. Buy Alertox from any druggist with his guarantee of satisfaction after taking one dose or money refunded. Price 60c and $1. Sent direct if your druggist is out. Alertox, Inc., Atlanta, Ga. (Adv.)

"The Battle of Paris" and Gertrude Lawrence are both a great disappointment. In the first place, everybody is fed up with fake armistice rejoicings and Hollywood trenches. But one can hardly be expected to en-joy a picture revolving—not about the struggle in the lines, but about the contemporaneous battle for pleas-

Gertrude Lawrence, the star of "Oh Kay," has the part of a street-singer, Georgie, in which she acquits herself creditably, but with no distinction. Zuzu, played by Charles Ruggles, is excellent as the unloved lover.

The story of how Georgie falls in the story of how Georgie falls in love with a young artist, wins him back when he loses his head over another girl, and finally escapes from the revenge prepared for her by the villainess, are unspeakably melodradramatic. Another familiar face was missing to day from the ranks of the old troupers, whose memories are mellowed with the stage days of the gay "nineties," in the sudden death last night of the great comedian, Raymond Hitchcock.

The star of "Hitchy Koo" was 64 years old. The end came about 10:30 p. m., Sunday as he stopped his carbefore his home in fashionable Beverly Hills after an evening automobile ride with his wife. His body slumped and his head fell against his wife's shoulder. Among the stage luminaries of the last quarter of a century Hitchcock lived as one of the brightest. He is particularly well remembered for his portrayal in "Hitchy Koo." "The Sap," and "The Yankee Consul."

Many of his plays ran brilliantly on New York's Broadway for months and in others he toured the country for long periods.

Hitchcock was born in Auburn, N. Y., October 22, 1865. After numerous minor roles following his advent on the stage in 1890, he struck the keynote of his success in "King Dodo." and from then on his progress was swift.

MRS. SINCLAIR LEWIS PROVES CHARMING LECTURER

Famed Novelist's Wife Tells of Life in Russia Thursday Morning Music circle will entertain this evening at 8 o'clock at

BY MADAME POMPON.

NTHUSIASTIC groups gathered around Dorothy Thompson Monday afternoon, at the close of her lecture on Russia, given before the Fine Arts Club, in the ballroom of the Piedmont Driving Club. Her talk was a combination of most intelligently stated facts and amusing incidents of Russian life drawn from her experiences while foreign correspondent for the Curtis newspapers.

Miss Thompson, the author of "New Russia," of poems, novels, and of translations of various kinds, is also one of the best known American magazine writers. She is the wife of Sinclair Lewis, author of "Main Street," "Babbitt," and other celebrated novels.

ONDAY morning in her room at the Biltmore Mrs. Lewis (or Dorothy Thompson, as you choose to call her) wearing a py jama suit with gold trousers and a bright blue jacket was pounding on her typewriter—tick—tick—

"Come in, if you will," she said, "and if you don't mind me

She is tall, her hair is bobbed, and she is quite brown (face and throat) from a summer's exposure at Twin Farms, the Sinclair Lewis estate ten miles from Woodstock, Vermont.

"I selected Atlanta," she continued, "as the one place, en route, I could lay off for three days and finish the third part of 'The New Patriotism Is Peace' now running in Pictorial Review. I have been working madly. There doesn't seem quite enough of anything to go around. Often it is like this. One may have splendid stuff for two articles on a subject but, when a magazine thinks it must have three, it's often hard pulling. Perhaps my mind is not fluid in Atlanta."

"I am quite temperamental about writing," she smiled over this. "No, I don't know anything about punctuation. Commas, anywhere, suit me. I keep my periods straight and my dasher. But the editor, can spring dashes. But the editor can sprin-kle commas anywhere. I don't mind. You see, I am a news-paper woman and used to sending stuff by wire and cable. It's NE THING about for-eign work," she con-tinued, "is that you are so far away from the home office they can't worry you much. They don't know what's going on, and you do. Have to take your word for it. Can't call you down. Can't fire you in a huff, because there is seldom anybody in your vicinity to take your place."

"Do you miss this exciting life?" I asked, much interested.
"Yes, I miss it, especially the Newspaper men are wonderful. No men are like themso cynically amusing. Life is such a jolly affair where they are. But," she added, "I was willing to leave it all for my husband."

"Where is Mr. Lewis now?"
I ventured to inquire. "Haven't the slightest idea," she replied, smiling again. "I know where he was yesterday, and will probably know where he is tomorrow, but today—there is absolutely no telling where he may be today. He is studying for his new novel on the labor question and goes about everywhere, talking to the working men and investigating labor trou-

"Writers are really quite terrible, you know. They put anything, or anybody, in a book. I think they do it unconsciously.

There is a famous writer, I won't teil Lis name, he would be so cross with me, whom we see lot of, among many others. He doesn't use me in his stories but he uses all of my clothes. I often ask him to please stop using my clothes. I want them myself, I tell him. His heroines cannot have them. He always replies, Don't be so troublesome about your clothes. They aren't so much, anyhow; but I seem to think of them when I am writing. Haven't time to hunt up ones. I won't damage I'll even fix them up for Sometimes they need it."

RS LEWIS stretched out comfortably on a long divan with her hands clasped above her head. She is young and decidedly pret-ty. While here she visited Stone ty. While here sne visited over Mountain and was as excited over its stupendous beauty as visitors to Atlanta usually are. "What a romance could be made of the story of Stone Moun-tain," she exclaimed. "I'll tell Willa Cather about it. She must come down and see it. Did you ever read her story, 'The Artist Came Home?' It's beautiful!"

En route home, she stopped at the Driving Club, with a group of friends, and had tea by the crackling fire in the pretty club

Monday, at the Piedmont Driving The small dining room was elaborately decorated with palms and golden chrysanthemums. The president, Mrs. Elizabeth P. Winship, presided. She was beautifully attired in a gown of dahlia crepe de Chine with a hat to match and wore a superb antique necklace of pink and green quartz purchased from a Russian grand duchess during her recent trip to Europe. Mrs. Pegram was elegantly gowned in black velvet and sand colored lace.

Mrs. Lily Orme Block, as chairman of the White Elephant Sale for St. Luke's annual Christmas Bazar, has her hands as full as usual. Everyone has been requested to bring their white ele-phants—things that are quite phants—things that are quite useless, entirely malapropos, in their own home—to her to sell for what they will bring when the Christmas spirit has taken possession of the land and everybody is in the best of humors. friend dropped in almost immediately bringing her husband.
"Here's my white elephant," she said. "He is frequently decidedly malapropos around my house."
But, on second thought, she decided to take him home with her and keep him there for a while at

Quaint objects are pouring for sale. Be sure I shall write out a tabulated list of some of them, a little later, just to prove that many minds have a curious way of deciding what they don't want. Mrs. Block rushed off to a friend's house immediately to borrow a small, white china elephant, she remembered to have seen there. She wanted to use it as a sign and a signal before her shop. But the poor thing, having had one near nicked off had apparently seen very hard times!

Weds Mr. Doucher.

The marriage of Mrs. Dorothy Neibling Bass and Edward Robert Doucher was quietly solemnized Sunday morning at the home of the bride's father on Cambridge avenue at 9 o'clock. Dr. John Yost, of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, officiated. Mrs. Joseph Boyd played an appropriate musical program. The bride, given in marriage by her father, John Henry Neibling, was gowned in a model of dahlia crepe with accessories to match and she carried a bouquet of valley and Easter lilies. The bride, formerly of Augusta, received her education in Augusta and is a graduate of the Tubman High school. The groom is the son of Mrs. Fred Punnell, of Flint, Mich., and is a graduate of the University of Michigan. He is associated with the Menasha Products Company, of Chicago, and has made his home in Atlanta for the past year. Mr. and Mrs. Doucher left for a motor trip to Florida and Cuba and upon their return will make their home at 2528 Austin Drive.

Festive Costumes That Live Up to the Spirit of the Occasion

-Fashions in turkey have come down to us unchanged since the "breaking waves dashed high" on that first Thanksgiving day; fashions in clothes have cycled and kaleidoscoped through the years to emerge today in the regal, splendid image that is a pot-pourri of the gentle past and the pulsing present.

-Tuesday Fashion Day presents three costumes for the three festive highlights on Thanksgiving day: a vibrantly exuberant ensemble for the Tech-Auburn game; a warmly hospitable frock that will play gracious hostess to a family dinner; a joyous, formal affair that will dance Thanksgiving right off the calendar.

"Turn backward, turn backward, oh time in thy flight, make me a child again just for tonight"... was the carnest entready made by the debs, who are making their formal bow as young ladies this season, and their escorts, as they cast aside their dignified roles for the nonce, and had just one more fling at their childhood days as they gathered beneath the halloon-flecked ceiling of the club and "licked" their luscious all-day suckers. True childies delight was found in the favors of toy balloons, and horns a-plenty gave the "infants" a chance, for once, to make all the din possible. One Headache after Another?

May be due to acidity try

MILK OF MAGNESIA

AN occasional headache may mean very little; nervousness; too much excitement-nothing more. But a series of daily headaches is different. Often this is Nature's warning that the alkaline balance of your system is being disturbed. Too much work or pleasure, or too much worry, is overloading the blood stream with acid waste. Or a diet too rich in meats, sweets or cereals is causing over-acidity.

This condition seldom corrects itself. Neglecting it invariably brings on more trouble. Over-acidity is the proved cause of most of that heartburn, nausea, sourstomach, so-called "acid-dyspepsia," sluggish bowels, and other digestive troubles so common nowadays.

The way to relieve these symptoms of over-acidity is by neutralizing the excess acid with an alkali. And the accepted alkali for this purpose is Phillips Milk of Magnesia; five minutes after you have taken a little in a glass of water, every trace of over-acidity has disappeared; headache is gone; you are happy, smiling comfortable again. Take Phillips Milk of Magnesia to relieve that sense of fullness after meals. To straighten you out if bilious, constipated, stuffed-up from a cold.

Phillips Milk of Magnesia is magnesia in the ideal form. It is acceptable to the system of even the tiniest infant. Mothers use it to make cow's milk suitable for baby's diet. It has many other important uses, told interestingly in directions found in every package. All drug stores have the 25c and 50c bottles. The signature of Chas. H. Phillips identifies the genuine. OUR CLUB - By Seckatary Hawkins

You'll never know how quickly a stubborn cough or chest cold can be conquered, until you try this famous recipe. It is used in millions of homes, because it gives more prompt, positive relief than anything else. It's no trouble at all to mix and costs but a trifle. Into a pint bottle, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex: then add plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey to make a full pint. This saves two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough medicine, and gives you a purer, better remedy. It never spoils, and tastes good—children like it.

You can actually feel its penetrating, soothing action on the inflamed throat membranes. It is also absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly on the bronchial tubes. At the same time, it promptly loosens the germ-laden phlegm. This three-fold action explains why it brings such quick relief even in severe bronchial coughs which follow cold epidemics.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form, and known as one of the greatest healing agents for severe coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief er money refunded. —(adv.)

Woman's Auxiliary Meets Today.

Meets Today.

The woman's auxiliary of the First Presbyterian church will hold its annual home mission study class this morning promptly at 10:30 o'clock. The subject for the day will be "The Crowded Ways," by Charles H. Sears. A varied and interesting program has been arranged, and Dr. Melton Clark, of Columbia Theological Seminary, will conduct a morning and afternoon class in study of the selected subject. Each teaching period will be followed by a discussion of points of interest, and a musical program has also been arranged. Luncheon will be served from 1 to 2 o'clock. All members of the auxiliary are cordially invited to be present for this interesting program.

BY THORNTON W. BURGESS. GUARD THE DANGER LINE BLACK PUSSY HAS A FIGHT.

How LARGELY the charm of a smile depends on coral gums and gleaming teeth! Then surely no woman should ever neglect The Danger Line. For this vital line is closely associated with the health of teeth and gums.

Protect

of your smile

It is the delicate margin of tissue where gums join teeth. Tiny wedge-shaped crevices occur here. Your tooth-brush can't penetrate all these crevices, particularly those between the teeth, so food particles constantly collect, ferment, form acids which attack the teeth and gums. But you can guard The Danger Line with Squibb's Dental Cream. Squibb's is made with 50% Squibb's Milk of Magnesia. Whenever you use it, tiny particles of Milk of Magnesia are carried into the crevices and render acids harmless. Squibb's cleans safely and thoroughly.

SQUIBB'S Dental Cream

guards The Danger Line-and how it cleans!

IN 1875, an earnest young man began to practice medicine. As a family doctor, he treated many cases of constipation. He soon saw the harm in common purges and began to seek something tter. Out of his experience is born a famous prescription w in wide use.

This prescription was written thousands of times. It proved an ideal laxative for old and young. Children like its pleasant taste. Older people like it because it doesn't gripe or cause discomfort. It is a mixture of fresh herbs and other pure ingredients; horoughly effective for the most robust of men. Stimuates the normal muscular action of the bowels. So its use will not become a habit.

ously the most sluggish bowels are started and bad breath, headaches, biliousness, feverishness, or no energy, poor appetite, etc., are relieved by Dr. Caldwell's prescription, it became necessary to put it up ready for use.

to put it up ready for use.

Today, Dr. Caldwell's Syrup

DR. W. B. CALDWELL'S SYRUP PEPSIN A Doctor's Family Laxative Surprise the key to fear doth hold And often puts to flight the bold. —Unc' Billy Possum.

Black Pussy the Cat, who has always lived at Farmer Brown's, dearly loves to prowl around in the big barn. Yes, sir, she dearly loves to prowl around in the big barn. You see, she has caught many a mouse there and if there is anything that Black Pussy loves it is catching mice. So there is very little that Black Pussy does not know about Farmer Brown's barn. She has explored it all over. She knows just where the mice make their little runways. She knows just where the holes are to watch.

On this particular morning Black

On this particular morning Black Pussy had decided that she would have On this particular morthing.

Pussy had decided that she would have a look around in the haymow. It was several days since she had been up in the haymow. In fact, it was a long time since she had looked in a certain corner. She remembered now that once in that certain corner she had found a nest of young mice.

"Of course," said Black Pussy to herself, "I don't expect to find an-other nest of young mice there. Of course not. But it will do no harm to have a look. I might have a pleas-ant surprise."

ant surprise."

Now, this was the corner where one of Farmer Brown's pullets had been laying eggs—the eggs that Unc' Billy Possum had found and eaten. And now Unc' Billy was curled up in that corner. He had eaten so much that he just had to take a nap. So he curled up half buried in the hay.

"Well, well, well, well, well, well," some one or something has given Black Pussy an awful fright. I wonder who or what it can be." (Copyright, 1929, for The Constitution.)

much that he just had to take a nap. So he curled up half buried in the hay.

Black Pussy came creeping along as only a cat can creep. You know how carefully a cat moves when she is hunting. This was what Black Pussy was doing now. Her eyes grew larger in the darkness of the haymow, as a cat's eyes will. Nearer she crept to that corner. At last she was within jumping distance. Even in the darkness there she could see that there was something in that corner. It looked very much like a nest of sone sort. What she really saw, of course, was the whitish fur of Unc' Billy as he lay curled up partly buried in the hay. The end of Black Pussy's tail was twitching with excitement and eagerness. She crept one step nearer. That was fur, she was sure. But was two dark for her to make out whose fur it was. Could it be that there was some one there, but she didn't find out. She found out there was some one there, but she didn't find out. She found out there was some one there, but she didn't find out who it was, because she was too frightened. She jumped and landed with her claws outstretched on that bunch of fur in the corner of the haymow. And that bunch of fur suddenly came to life. Yes, sir, it came to life. Black Pussy suddenly found herself staring into a sharp face with a mouthful of sharp teeth, and from that mouth was coming a smarl that gave Black Pussy a most uncomfortable feeling.

Black Pussy jumped back as quickly as she had jumped forward. She jumped back and how she did race for the stairs! The hair on her tail was all on end, so that her tail was about three times as big as it ordi-narily appears. To the head of the stairs she raced and down the stairs. Farmer Brown's Boy was just coming

Cruising about the loafing district yesterday convinced th moulder of public opinion, so to speak, that the next football event of importance is the Tech-Georgia football game which will be played in Athens, Ga., on three railroads, December 7.

The impending battle with the University of Alabama in Birmingham Thanksgiving Day has Messrs.

Mehre and Thomas, the coaches, worried deeply. For the nonce they have forgotten all about having to play Tech later on. They are coaching themselves hoarse these days preparing the Bulldogs for a swim in the

But no one in the loafing district here is exercised over the emergency. They are letting the coaches worry about Alabama and they are already well advanced with their suffering program for the Tech game. Some have gone so far as to reserve drawing rooms and purchase supplies of tea and asperin.

PREPARING FOR WAR.

Likewise, the Yellow Jackets have been pounding the turf at Tech Flats every afternoon and several evenings by 100 candlepower electric light bulbs working up a high temperature over the approach of Auburn.

The Flats folks have lost a lot of football games this season and so has Auburn. But Auburn has been improving right along. At least the Tech coaches see that very clearly. The word "Georgia" has not been mentioned, they tell me. Not since little Mike Donahue was forming his man-mountains for an invasion has there been such a fever of preparation for the Plainsmen.

Yet, the boys in the loafing district continue to compare the stubs on the red tickets that have been mailed out to the Athens classic and wonder-whether they can get space already reserved on the Heliotrope Special changed to space on the Mauve Special, which leaves 15 minutes earlier, and so on.

FAITHLESS ALUMNI.

The disposition to let the coaches and players do the worrying over the Thanksgiving Day games and merely go out and enjoy same regardless, seems to me the height of indif-

TWO WILL BLIMP OVER.

A precedent in transportation to football games will be set for the Athens muss when two prominent Atlanta sportsmen will float over to the Classic City in a dirigible and land within a few hundred yards of the new stadium.

The Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company will have one of its fleet of non-rigid airships, The Vigilant, down in this section about that time. L. W. Robert, of the Tech athletic board, the Atlanta Crackers and the construction business, and Bob Woodruff, president of the Coca-Cola Company, will borrow the big bag for

They will leave Atlanta just before the kickoff and get to Athens before the ball falls into the rigid arms of the nervous halfback. A ground crew will be waiting on Old Sanford field to grab the landing ropes and anchor the dirigible. The two daring passengers then will mosey over to their seats before the first play has been run.

SETS A RECORD.

It is said that Mr. Robert and Mr. Woodruff will be the first men ever taken to a football game in a dirigible. Hitherto this mode of transportation has been considered unsafe because Jackets Are Drilled for the gas bag might be taken for a punt and blocked by somebody.

The presence of the dirigible close at hand will be reassuring, however. Either Tech or Georgia will be sure to go up in the air and The Vigilant could be chartered by alumni to get them down again.

And after the game the skipper of The Vigilant could more than make expenses by taking up suicide parties made up of defeated old grads.

RAILROADS MOBILIZING.

In addition to the dirigible party, several bevies of air-planers will rush over, they say. However, the problem will be to find seats for these aerial visitors among the mob that will ride the Red, White, Blue, Green, Orange, Cherry, Lemon and White Rock specials over the various railroads.

Indications are that again the half-portion highway will be fairly clear of traffic and that the main body of visitors to Athens will be trundled over on special trains as for the Yale game.

TULANE IS ALL SET.

Efforts of the other Southern conference members to help Tulane frame a more representative schedule next year have met with discouragement. Vanderbilt offered Tulane a game, but Tulane's schedule is full for next year, it is said.

Now Alabama is after the date on which Tulane is to play Sewanee. But a recent announcement from New Orleans revealed that Tulane's schedule for 1930 was complete except for the swapping of Louisiana Polytechnic for Louisiana College or words to that effect,

THE "O'S" HAVE IT.

A serious query came to this desk by postcard last night. It was signed "Oglethorpe Freshman" and asked whether Oglethorpe did not own the state championship title now.

I must say in all seriousness that nothing could be more nearly correct. Oglethorpe having defeated Georgia and Mercer certainly is the state champion.

I do not think Georgia Tech would raise a voice in protest egardless of the outcome of the Tech-Georgia game. The etrels are "It." Long live the King!

Georgia's attack against Alabama Thursday afternoon down in dear old Birmingham, will be the best that has been launched since the North

When a coach gets a boy with a football noggin are who knows what to call and at what time to call it and also one who can take instruction, he makes a quarterback of him. And if the boy displays one of those football noggins which makes it possible for his mind to take in the field and the opposing defense and work at its weak points the coach goes home

Coach Stagg, of Chicago, contributed a new passing attack that was the best conceived I have ever seen in my experience. Sending a player wide to the side-line and another in motion, the Chicago aerial oftense was baffling even if opponents knew it was coming. earlier, held Stanford and California to a single touchdown each.

The ban on runs from fumbles in my opinion proved successful and instead of detracting from the spectacular side of the game improved it. Coaches used more plays involving complicated ball-handling and this made the game more open and more spectacular.

The new rule gave more rein to the imagination of the coaches. Coaches belong to the imaginative group, else they would not be coaches.

On Curing a Slice.

Mr. Grantlasd Rice. Sir: He told you his drive had a hook at the end And this was a fault that he wanted to mend. He was sure you could help him and therefore he wrote To be seech you to give him the right antidote And relieve a suffering friend.

Did you weaken and say you didn't quite know? Did you tell him to go and consult a good pro? Did you throw in the basket his woeful appeal? You did not, you just told him to hit with the heel. As I understand it this hook that he hated Was far out at the end, a hook very belated, Not a wide sweeping hook that lands out in the hay, But a ball that goes straight nearly all of the way And then tips to the left and I venture to say

That's the longest ball ever created. Now my drive goes straight, but the end of its flight Is cursed with a mean little swerve to the right. slice does not roll like a hook, you'll agree And I'm shy on the distance I get from the tee, And I'm mad enough often to fight. The drive is a shot that we all find unruly

And if I am not taxing your patience unduly, Pray get me that hook and your debtor I'll feel, You told Mr. Hooker to hit with the heel; Now tell me what to hit with.

Yours truly, H. HOVEY.

If you're cursed with a slice then your balance is sour Your body and hands are ahead of the swing At the moment of impact, where most of your power Is lost in bad timing before the old Bing. A slice can result from a number of sins, But keep the weight back from the top of the blow, Give the club head a chance and you may miss the whins. As the wrists enter in with a free, smoother flow.

Caging the Stormy Petrel.

It has remained for John Golden, the producer, to cage the stormy petrel of sport. His name is Frank Craven, actor, playwright, golfer and world's record spectator.

Unable to accompany the Ryder cup team across the water and see the British open also, I asked Mr. Craven if he would pinch-follow the athletes. "To be sure," he replied, traveling 7,000 miles for the purporse. Later on the suggestion was made that he accompany your dispatch bearer to Pebble Becah as a sight-seeing aid to help cover various matches. "Why not?" Mr. Craven replied, adding another 6,000 miles to his tour.

A couple of football games at Boston and New Haven were a mere step for him, but as we were about to round him up for a jump to Urbana the alert John Golden threw out a golden net and put the stormy petrel under cover. So he is now opening in a new play called "Salt Water," in the meanwhile looking with yearning eyes at far-off battlefields of sport and a bit restive after only 18,000 miles of traveling since last April to keep close check upon various competitions, unmindful of the multitudes that wanted to see him on the stage.

What Mr. Golden will be able to do about it when the sunshine of another spring arrives and the bluebird sounds the call for the open is another matter. It is our guess that he will say with Kiplingapproxi-And meet my mate—the wind that tramps the world." For something in my head upset it all

And made me drop whatever 'twas for good; And out at sea behold the dock lights die, The Indignant Ones.

Any number of indignant colleges, old grads and other non-combatants get quite upset when the suggestion is offered that while they have strong teams, fine records and certain star players—the quality and quantity of the schedule must play a big part in any team ranking or allstar selection

It is the playing of long, hard schedules that cost many teams victories in certain games and that also deplete the vitality of certain stars. For example, Georgia University hit Oglethorpe, Yale and North Carolina in succession and then had to bump along against Florida, Tulane, N. Y. U. and Georgia Tech. Obviously the Georgia team was in no shape to hit a fast midseason or late season clip after such a gruelling opening.

The test should include at least four hard, standard games. And those playing five, six, seven or more hard games must be given even more consideration. Many good teams with outstanding stars have only been called on to play two or possibly three hard games with resting spots in between that can make all the difference in the world. This may not be ny one's fault. But matters can be judged only upon conditions as they happen to exist. Modern football is a high pressure, wearing, tearing, nerve-depleting game and those players through six or more hard games can hardly be judged on even terms with those only playing two or three hard games.

Deciding what are hard schedules and what are not hard schedules will cause much indignation, but what would football be without a large quantity of indignation?

Tech, Georgia Frosh Meet Here Saturday

Close, Interesting Battle Is Expected When Teams Play Saturday at Grant Field.

By Herb Clark.

Tech and Georgia will clash on the gridiron Saturday. It will be the freshman teams doing the battling, but all the spirit of the most important title-deciding varsity clash will be there.

The two yearling squads will close their seasons with the fray Saturday afternoon on Grant field. Each has turned in victories and suffered defeats this year. Each has a potentially powerful squad, one bearing a

The little signal caller had scrimmaged last Saturday, but appeared conscious of the fact that he possessed an injured shoulder. Today, however, he literally d'got hot' and proceeded to do a little ball carrying himself. The result was that little Red and Black quarterback scored a couple of touchdowns on long runs, and appears to be in fine form for the Alabama game.

At the start of the season it was thought that the defense was the weak feature of the frosh game at the Flats. The offense was clicking. The backs had power, speed, and versatility. They pulled the first two games out of the fire by going to scores through sheer force. Then the defense took up the burden. Against Auburn and South Carolina the offense failed to gain enough yards to have scored a touchdown if they had all been garnered in one march. The defense held the Baby Tigers to a single tally and prevented the young Gamecocks from scoring even once. And Kid Clay and his staff took up the task of injecting the spark into the offense. Monday the first string backs worked all afternoon on their plays. Clay promised more of the same dose Tuesday and for the balance of the week. He hopes to have his ball carriers working again by Saturday.

game for Tech. From now on, they say, Tech is going to play its Thanksgiving games on Saturday. After this year there will be no more bolting of the turkey, washed down with a suitable liquid, and hurrying off to the game. The Thanksgiving game has long been an institution, but it seems to be passing, especially since the ancinet date no longer ends the season.

The Jackets spent all of last week scrimmaging, working and being changed about. There have been changes every day, with men shifted about here and there. More, it seems, are to come. Alexander is busy evolving an effective lineup to send against Auburn, and he usually gets what he is after.

THE PACHYDERM HERD.

When one is lying quite horizontal one's thoughts naturally turn to the horizontal sport of wrestling. It was very nice of Mr. Jack Curley to send me tidings of the latest developments in pachydermy, Mr. Curley being the biggest importer of pachyderms in this or any other country. Not having kept up with the latest developments in the pachyderm market, I note with some surprise that there is a new leader of the pachy-derm herd, the same being Richard Shikat, pronounced, I believe, she-cat.

How come? I do not know. I began to lose track of the pachyderm succession since the good old days when it rotated among Strangler Lewis, Joe Stecher and the "byszko boys. In those days answering the question, "Who is the wrestling champion, if any?" was comparatively simple. It was a plain case of arithmetical progression.

I would sit down at the desk and say to myself, "Let's see. Strangler Lewis was champion last month. Before that it was the turn of Vladek The month before it was Stecher's turn. Then, naturally, Stanislaus Zbyszko must be wrestling champion this month.'

Persons doomed to write sports are asked numbers of embarrassing questions. They are supposed to have at an instant's call any number of entirely uninteresting and inconsequential facts of this nature. to the orderliness with which the wrestling game was conducted, one always could figure without digging into the archives who the wrestling champion was at that particular moment, in case that anybody was curious or cared.

As I gather, it was intercollegiate football that upset the orderly progression of the horizontal art of pachydermy. I am going back to the appearance of Big Wayne Munn, of the Uni-versity of Nebraska. It seems that it was Strangler Lewis' turn to be wrestling champion, and they matched Wayne Munn with the Strangler by way of variety.

Marist college and Fulton High will furnish the local prep entertainment Thursday morning with a game on the Marist campus. Visitors at the Marist game will have plenty of time to go home, enjoy a turkey dinner and then see the Tech-Auburn game at Grant field during the afternoon.

Decatur High will end its season with a Thanksgiving game in Cobb county against the strong Marietta High eleven.

Although his team has won the city prep football title for 1929, Coach Doyal is taking no chances with his Boys' High eleven and nothing but hard work will be held today and Wednesday in preparation for the rolled over on his shoulder blades in a fair imitation of Joe Beckett taking his natural repose.

As it was Lewis' turn to be champion when this untoward circumstance arose, or rather fell flat, there was nothing to do but to proclaim the Nebraska alumnus heavyweight wrestling cham-pion of the world and king of the pachyderm herd. In collegiate circles there was some rejoicing at a college graduate becoming champion of anything, even champion of pachydermy.

But in professional sporting circles there was much indignation. was felt that Wayne Munn had not done right by the Strangler. You could not trust any of those college birds in a serious business. would always be thinking that they were playing football. SPILLING THE BEANS.

After that it naturally was very difficult for a layman to keep track of just who was wrestling champion, and the question would become very embarrassing indeed to a gentleman whose memory was starting to go Consequently I do not just remember how the pachyderm industry got rid of Wayne Munn. All that I know was that they did get rid of him and that somebody tossed him into the Nebraska state legislature ome place in which he never would be heard from again. Strangler Lewis once more became wrestling champion and everything went back to normalcy and even money. Nobody cared how it happened as long as it happened and the wrestling championship passed about in its natural and legitimate system

Things had hardly got to running smoothly again when another college football player had to step out and gum up the works again. This time it was a Dartmouth man, Gus Sonnenberg, who had played on the "Big Green team" for three years and was forced to be graduated because of the eligibility rules.

From what I gathered, Gus had qualified for the profession piano moving, but that work was distasteful to him, so he decided to take up wrestling. The years he had spent at dear old Dart-mouth made him quite a formidable pachyderm. Like Wayne Munn, he knew nothing of the nice little courtesies of wrestling.

He introduced crude and savage football tactics into this finer art His first pachyderm was thrown with a flying tackle. He tackled them all in the same fashion until he finally became wrestling champion through these unethical means. Once again there was no head or tail to the pachyderm market. Again it had been kicked to pieces through the influence of the higher education

BACK TO NORMALCY.

Now they tell me that Mr. She-cat is the wrestling champion. I do not know how or why, but no doubt it is all for the best. I have a hazy recollection of reading somewhere that he was proclaimed champion by the New York state boxing commission. I suppose that makes it

Staving off a late rally which brought the Coast Artillery quintet to within one slim point of their 10-point lead, the infantry team of the Georgia Tech battallion basketball loop staged a spurt of their own with three minutes to go and pulled out on the long end of a 36-30 score.

The game was featured by spurts on the part of each team. The Infantry got off to a good lead as the game opened, only to see the gap narrowed and obliterated. Again they dashed, again assumed control, and again lost it. They spurted once more before the first half ended to lead at 21-16.

The state boxing commission. I suppose that makes it unanimous, or, at any rate, legal.

All that I hope is that Mr. She-cat is not a college man, or the pachyderm market once more will become very unstable. What with the Nebraska alumnus and that Dartmouth alumnus tackling and rushing in where the pachyderms from the foreign jungles feared to tread, it was most annoying.

I hope that once more a person can rise from his bed in the morning and know who is wrestling champion without having to look at the calendar or calling up the weather bureau. What they need in the pachyderm market, as well as in the stock market, is stability. Nobody can sleep restfully when he fears that he might wake up in the morning and find that some former football player had become wrestling champion overnight.

In the old days of reasonable security you could have your wrestling table made out for the year, just as you have your tide.

In the old days of reasonable security you could have your wrestling table made out for the year, just as you have your tide tables made out by the government in case you should want to go fishing. And the wrestling tables for the year with the schedules of the champions were quite as dependable as the tide tables. more before the first half ended to lead at 21-16.

The second half was a replica of the first, with the Artillerymen tying the count again but failing to obtain the lead. A spurt by the Infantry netted them eight points. One by the Artillery sent the count to 31-30. And then the Infantry put and the infantry put the infantry put the final drive.

closed their seasons last Saturday, but several important games are booked for next Saturday and sporadic games will continue throughout the month of December with the formal ending of the season set for New Year's Day, when the annual Rose Bowl game will be played at Pasadena.

The Thanksgiving Day schedule offers only three contests of more than local interest, Pittsburgh playing Penn State at Pittsburgh, Tennessee meeting "Shipwreck" Kelly and his colorful Kentucky crew at Lexington, and Tulane journeying to Baton Rouge for a clash with Louisiana State.

BEST ONE.

BEST ONE.

Of the three games the Tennessee-Kentucky battle promises the best competition. Tennessee will be fighting to maintain its undefeated and untied record and to win the South-ern conference championship. Ken-tucky has also had a successful season and is certain to give Tennessee a gruelling struggle. The Kentuckians' only defeat of the season, a 24-13 setback at the hands of Alabama, occurred while Kelly, Kentucky's backfield ace, was out of the lineup. With Kelly fit for action, the Blue-Grass team will be an even money bet team will be an even money bet

Penn State has shown flashes Penn State has shown flashes of power this season, but its record is marred by losses to New York University and Bucknell and on their showing to date the Nittany Lions can not be counted on to furnish dangerous opposition for Pittsburgh. The Pittsburgh eleven has established itself as one of the outstanding teams. self as one of the outstanding teams of the year. It threatens to take the Penn State game decisively and finish its season undefeated.

Tulane's clash with Louisiana State promises little excitement. Louisiana, defeated by Arkansas and Duke, is regarded as a "set-up" for the Green Wave, which has come through its schedule undefeated and earned recognition as one of the five pretional nition as one of the five national Numerous traditional contests, such as Columbia vs. Syracuse and Pennsylvania vs. Cornell, add color to the schedule and will furnish high class competition. However, none of the opposing teams are undefeated and few have any claim to high ranking among teams of their section.

Lehigh closed the season by winning from its traditional rival. Lafayette, for the first time in the past decade, Lafayette having won for 10 successive years. third; Ohio State and Iowa, tied for fourth; Indiana, Chicago and Michigan, tied for fift! Wisconsin, sixth.

At the start of the season many persons thought Illinois, Michigan and Minnesota had the brightest prospects. It is no longer possible to look at a Big Ten teams' schedule and say whether it is "easy" or "hard." Teams will always be keyed higher for certain games with traditional rivals.

PROVES WORTH.

Purdue's decisive defeat of Indiana again proved the power of the new champions and confirmed my belief they are as good as any team in the country. It is absurd to label any team "national champion," but if we have to do it, I point to Purdue's victories over five Big Ten teams, Kansas Aggies and Mississippi, and wonder just how it will be possible to sas Aggies and Mississippi, and wonder just how it will be possible to drop the Boilermakers overboard.

After a listless start Illinois got on its feet during the last three weeks and finished in second place by defeating Ohio State by a large score. To blow our own horn a little, the Illinois team in three years have lost two games and tied two, and we are proud of the large group of veterans who closed their careers so splendidly. We lose all our line with the excep-tion of Eddie Kawal, sophomore cen-ter, who has played high grade football all the way.

Illinois undoubtedly was at its peak

Illinois undoubtedly was at its peasagainst Ohio State, but even then after looking at the Buckeye material I do not see how Coach Willaman's team won a conference game.

LACKEE PUNCH.

Iowa outplayed Michigan, but lacked the punch to score on the te-nacious Wolverines. Burt Ingwersen did a fine piece of work in taking Iowa through a schedule of six Big Ter games with two victories, two defeats and two ties. Ingwersen, a good Illinois tackle in his days, is developing every year and ranks with the best coaches.

Michigan's rally to beat Minnesota and Herrord and the lower after a had and Harvard and tie Iowa after a bad start was worthy of Wolverine tradi-tion. Wisconsin came up after a discouraging season to threaten Minneso a and lost when Lusby failed to kick goal after touchdown.

Notre Dame has a wonderfully well-balanced team with backs who are hard to bring down in the open and consequently can stretch their gains; the Irish were too fast for Northwestern, whose secondary defense was not good enough. Coach Hanley brought Northwestern to its peak to beat Il-linois and has played some good football, but Hanley lacked the reserves to keep up the pace. The Irish have them. Whether or not they beat the Army this week they have made a fine record, and don't consider my jabs at the "national champion" myth as intended to disparage the class of Rockne's

BUCKEYE CHAMPS. must be included in the middlewestern teams which have made fine records. Under Don Peden, an Illin's half-back in 1921-22, Ohio won the Buckeye conference championship, winning nine games and scoring 306 points to 12 by opponents. At Columbus I was told by competent observers that Ohio in several ways was the best coached outfit they had seen this season.

Nebraska mustered sufficient defense to halt a dangerous passing attack by the Kansas Aggies in the last period. "Bo" McMillen's Aggies have come up nicely from the lowest rung of the Bix Six ladder.

of the Bix Six ladder.

Nebraska has been skimming along precariously and has not the power of former years. Nevertheless a victory over Iowa State on Thanksgiving Day will enable Nebraska to retain the Big Six championship.

wards, and several others who may yet find themselves on the Gold quintet.

Sullivan, a guard, Tate, a center, and one or two others of last year's scrub team looked good then and should have improved enough to force their ways into the attention of the slight mentor this year.

It is expected that Mundorff will hold scrimmages shortly. Most of the men who will probably appear on the varsity squad have been taking short workouts daily for the past week or so in an effort to get into condition and to get their eyes on the basket. They appear to be ready to go at a moment's notice.

Mundorff, with games appearing on the calendar in but little over a month, will take advantage of this fact. The Jackets leave Atlanta on a swing around the Metropolitan area shortly after the start of the Christmas holidays at Tech, playing several of the leading amateur and college teams of the east. The regular schedule will open early in January. Neither card has yet been completed, but Mundorff hopes to have bether the deal of its big fullback, Jim Bausch, who would have given more punch to its offense.

The Oklahoma Aggies tied Oklahoma, although Oklahoma looked somewhat better on paper. I hardly expected Oregon Aggies to break Detroit's winning streak of 22 victories and one tie, but the westerners were alert, intercepting one pass for a touchdown and winning with a toss over the line for another. Now that the string of victories is broken, Detroit can breathe a sigh of relief. Such things are heavy burdens and place a strain on a team that often prevents in form playing its best ball. Brazil and Storen, of Detroit, are high-class backs.

Ohio Wesleyan did as well against the Army as any one in the middlewest expected. Drake with the champion-session took a bump from Temple. Whether the track be fast or slow, there appears to be no way of consistently downing the long shots on the Bowie course.

Today the going was rated as good but the outsiders scored with as much regularity had the turf been soaked with rain. Then followed Moscow's Triumph, which paid $19.70 to win, $10.20 to place and $7.10 to show. Even The Tartar, which finished second, was little considered to run in the money. Grab Bag was a good thing in the third race and paid $15.30. The fourth, known as the scandal, and the feature of the day, saw H. Bayard Swope's Courtsey score in a drive for the two-year old purse. Courtsey's victory was just another surprise to the cold weather crowd. She paid nearly 15 to 1. Black Mammy, odds-on-favorite, finished a head back of the winner while Wild Waters was third. The fifth went to Clear Sky, the shortest priced winner of the day but Nealon Kay came back in the sixth, paying $18.60. Midget Gridmen Clash Saturday

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., Nov. 25,—(AP)—The Holy Name Midgets of Columbus, Ohio, have accepted the challenge of the Fives, Charlottesville's midget football team, sponsored by the University of Virginia, for a game to decide the national 100-pound class championship.

Negotiations are under way for this contest to be played next Saturday, either in New York before the Army-Notre Dame game, or in Philadelphia before the Navy-Dartmouth scrap.

Johnnie Fath, coach of the Holy Name Midgets, wired Bob Osborn, coach of the Fives, that the Columbus eleven won the midwest title with a 6-to-0 victory over Kent. Coach Osborn has also received a challenge from the Buccaneer Midgets of Philadelphia.

Ohio University Holds Its 'Lead'

With nine successive victories and no ties, a record shared only with Texas Christian and Western Maryland, Ohio University wound up its season with a grand total of 306 points scored, the only team in the country to pass the 300 mark at the present time, although several may surpass it before the season closes. Defensively, St. Mary's of California leads with an uncrossed goal line.

EASTERN TEAMS DRILLING HARD FOR BIG GAMES

Thanksgiving Card Offers Numerous Interesting Games for Fans.

NEW YORK, Nov. 25 .- (A)-There are very few days of practice left for the teams which will participate in the east's big Thanksgiving Day football battles and they are making the most of what time there is. Only the few who do not play until Saturday could indulge in the luxury of an easy day's drill.

Pennsylvania, in its last hard workout before going to the Jersey shore to rest before the Cornell clash at Franklin field, put the finishing touches on its offense. One change in the Penn backfield is expected for the game, Greene replacing Opekun at fullback. Cornell also staged its final long home workout, easing up a bit after a hard week-end.

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—(P)—The noteworthy rise in bond prices which followed the release of vast amounts of speculative credit through the recent crash in stock values continued today in an active market. Advances were mostly in fractions and the list had its weaker spots, but the undertone was distinctly strong.

Two months ago the quotation tables were showing numerous new lows each day in bonds of prime investment caliber. This situation has now been completely reversed and scores of domestic loans are at or near their 1929 peaks as a result of the demand fostered by declining money rates, the returning popularity of bonds with the investing public, and the scarcity of the better grade issues, last week saw the first turns into new high grounds by corporation into the first near the public of the better grade issues, last week saw the first turns into new high grounds by corporation in the first nearly for the first participation of the leading carriers to make new highs. JACKSON BROS. BOESEL & CO. NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—While we see no prospect or justification for another major break in the stock market, we do look for considerable irregularity and a sagging tendency in many issues. It is perfectly obvious that all of the weak technical situations have not been cleaned up and some large blocks of stocks are still hanging over the market. Even moderate weakness in the standard issues could easily produce marked weakness in isolated issues which still face forced liquidation.

We still adhere to the view that the

We still adhere to the view that the oils, as a group, are the most thoroughly liquidated stocks now available. The oil industry is facing a bright future and that fortunes will be made in high-grade oil stocks over the next two years. From time to time we will review specific issues in the oil group.

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—(P)—An opening advance on relatively steady Liverpool cables was followed by reactions in the cotton market today, with near months easy under liquidation promoted by the issuance of December notices. January contracts, after selling up to 17.65 at the start, declined to 17.47 and closed at that figure with the general market closing barely steady net 6 points lower to 2 points higher.

The opening was steady at a net advance of 11 to 13 points in response to the relatively steady showing of Liverpool, an idea that the December notices, which were estimated at about 85,000 bales, would be promptly stopped by the trade and Cables were about as expected but December withal opened 2 points down on the circulation of the notices. However, as New York figures at the opening were higher, the months beyond December in New Orleans opened 5 to 10 points up and all months were 5 to 13 points above Saturday's close.

Continued circulation of the notices influenced the market here to ease off 15 to 21 points around the middle of the morning but it soon ruled steadier in quiet frading during the afternoon and remained within the earlier range, closing at a slight net decline. December, after opening at 17.35, down 2 points, rallied 7 points to 17.46, and then dropped 17 points to 17.25, closing at 17.31, net 6 points down for the day. The general market closed steady at net declines of 2 to 6 points.

Some profit was expected to result from the announcement after last Friday's close that the exchange would be closed beginning with the holiday next Thursday until the next Monday. This four-day shutdown will be one of the longest on record in peace times.

The day's news continued to be of a reassuring character. The reports of copper price cutting were regarded calmly in red metal trade circles. NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—(49)—The stock market was somewhat unsettled by profit taking in advance of the protracted closing beginning with the Thanksgiving Day holiday, and a mild break in the coppers, today, as in ormal five-hour trading sessions were restored after three weeks of three-hour periods.

The market was well supported on declines, however, and traders were encouraged by a noteworthy slackening of trading on downturns. Cautous short selling, still restrained by the members' daily reports to the stock exchange as to short accounts, was in evidence, but it made little impression.

ADVANCE HOLIDAY PROFIT - TAKING BRINGS SMALL LOSSES IN STOCK LIST PRESIDENT REFERS TO STOCKHOLDERS

NEW YORK, Nov. 25 .- (A) - Samuel Zemurray, president of the Cuyamel Fruit Company, announced today that the company had negotiated to sell its property and assets to the United Fruit Company. Reports of tion for some time. If the sale is approved by the Cuyamel stockholders, the latter will receive United Fruit stock on a share for share basis.

Mr. Zemurray said that holders of more than two-thirds of his company's capital stock had signed the necessary consent agreement. The directors are, therefore, authorized to make the sale. Officials of the company have recommended that the stockholders agree.

The sale also involves the Cortes Development Company, a Cuyamel subsidiary operating a sugar business in Honduras, where the plantations of the Cuyamel company are located.

English Cotton Industry Special Weekly Report MANCHESTER, England. — (By Mail.)—The trade situation continues to be vitally affected by the raw cotton situation. There has been a fur White shirtings have changed bands mers' Federation, the Cotton Manufacturers' Association and the Operative Weavers' Amalgamation met in Manchester yesterday to consider the application of the operatives for a wage increase equal to 2-6d in the pound and also for a payment of 7-6d per week for each loom stopped. As expected the employers turned down both proposals and the reasons for the rejection will be sent to the operatives at a later date.

Mail.)—The trade situation continues to be vitally affected by the raw cotton situation. There has been a further easier movement in prices and as is usual in a falling market, buyers have been nervous and orders have been placed with hesitation. Some operators, however, take the view that raw cotton is now relatively cheap. It remains to be seen to what extent future values will be affected by outside factors and especially the disturbed state of affairs in the stock market of the United States.

It is being taken for granted that there will be a drastic reduction in the concumption of American cotton during the next six months, and the biggest falling off will probably be in the United States. In the circumstances, traders on this side cannot see any reason why there should be a permanent advance in raw material rates.

Piece Goods Strong.

Demand in piece goods has been fairly persistent and numerous quotations have been given out by manufacturers. Cottonseed Oil. NEW ORLEANS. Nov. 25.—The market for cottonseed oil futures was easier today owing to tenders on December contracts and an easier market for lard. Prime summer yellow oil closed at 7.90, down 15 points, and prime crude closed at 7.12 to 7.25. Futures closed steady: December 8.08; January 8.08; March 8.21; May 8.40; June 8.42.

NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—Cottonseed oil was quiet and easy today, closing 5 to 12 points net lower, with December breaking into a new low for the season at 8.83. Expectations for moderate tenders on December contracts on Wednesday led to renewed liquidation, while the later months yielded gradually on local and commission house selling, encouraged by the decline in lard, hogs and grains.

Sales 3.820 barrels, Prime crude nominal; prime summer yellow spot 8.75; December closed 8.79; January 9.02; March 9.24; May 9.41.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 25.—Cottonseed futures closed steady. Closing bid November 35.75: December 36.25: January. 37.35; March 38.00; May 39.60; sales 600 tons. Cottonseed meal futures closed very steady. Closing bid November 37.25: December 37.10: January 37.20; March 37.40: May 37.50; sales 3.200 tons.

Pittsburgh Road Seeks To Purchase Western Maryland

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—(P)—
Pressing its opposition to the Baltimore & Ohio control of the Western Maryland system, the Pittsburgh &
West Virginin Corporation today filed with the interstate commerce commission a formal offer to purchase the Western Maryland.
Previous approaches to the commis-

Previous approaches to the commission by the Pittsburgh Company have indicated its desire to become incorporated with the Western Maryland and it is involved in several separate proceedings on the commission's railroad consolidation docket which may further that purposes.

proceedings on the commission's railroad consolidation docket which may further that purpose.

The application today indicated the Pittsburgh company's willingness to pay the Baltimore & Ohio $18,673,044 for Western Maryland stock which the
B. & O. now owns. In addition, the Pittsburgh company said it would pay the Baltimore & Ohio 6 per cent interest on all of the funds it has had invested in the Western Maryland and will agree to pay a like amount for any Western Maryland stock outside of Baltimore & Ohio control.

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—Raw sugar was easier today and uncontrolled sugars offered at concessions of 1-16c or on the basis of 3.71 for spots duty paid. The demand, however, was light and sales reported were 30.000 bags of Cuban for perfit shipment at 3.74 and 23,000 bags at 3.71 to a local refiner.

Circulation of 121 December notices, had shipment at 3.74 and 23,000 bags at 3.71 to a local refiner.

Circulation of 121 December notices, had a depressing effect on raw futures and, after opening unchanged to 4 points lower, prices continued to sag and closed net unchanged to 7 points lower. Trading was considerably more active, but it was mostly exchanging from the December to the later positions. There appeared to be no demand for the spot month, probably on account of the poor inquiry in the outside market, and the notices were said to be circulating right up to the close, so that final prices showed little rally from the lowest levels of the seasion. The comparative steadness of the later months was due to covering and buying by sellers of the nearer positions. Sales approximated 100,800 tons. July 2.21. September 2.27. Refined was quiet and prices were unchanged at 5.00 for fine granulated. The action of the spot market seemed to restrict purchases of refined, and the demand was limited to nearby requirements only.

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—(P)—Fivehour sessions were resumed on the New York curb market today but the volume of trading fell below that of the abbreviated three-hour sessions last week, with prices drifting irregularly lower.
Professional operators, who bought stocks in the early stages of. last week's advance, showed a tendency to take their profits before the beginning of the four-day holiday Thursday while investors were inclined to hold off, pending more definite indications of the trend of holiday trade, and the effect of the recent securities decline of general business.
Cities Service, one of the most active issues on the board, moved within a range of half a point, closing 1-4.

Three-tenths share Additional $5 Preferred Stock Included and Cost Reduced

In view of the recent drastic decline in all security prices the Board of Directors of Associated Gas and Electric Company has decided to authorize the modification of its $8 Interest Bearing Allotment Certificates so as to make them much more attractive and has authorized a reduction in price from $133 to $120, without, however, making any change in the interest rate of $8 per annum.

The amount of Associated Gas and Electric Company $5 Dividend Preferred Stock included in each Allotment Cer-tificate will be increased two and one-half times from onefifth of a share to one-half of a share. This change will also make the securities included in the Allotment Certificates more largely of a fixed return investment character, thereby harmonizing with the present trend of the best investment

The reduced price of $120 will materially increase the yield of the Allotment Certificates, as no reduction will be made in the interest rate. The increase in the amount of Preferred Stock will also substantially increase the return when the Allotment Certificates are exchanged for the securities.

The high point in the market value of the securities included in each Allotment Certificate before the recent drastic reduction in the price levels, was over $190 as compared with the reduced subscription price of $120, which is substantially below the present market value of the securities which are

These changes in the Allotment Certificates present, therefore, much greater possibilities of appreciation in principal when market conditions become normal as well as assuring a substantially larger income for a smaller outlay.

The new Stock Purchase Rights to purchase Class A and Common Stock which will be deliverable under the Allotment Certificates and which will represent a split-up and improvement of the present Debenture Rights, should command a higher price than the present Debenture Rights now quoted on the New York Curb Exchange. The present Debenture Rights, of which the Company has reacquired a very large proportion, expire on January 2, 1931, whereas the new "Rights" to be covered by the Allotment Certificates after they are split-up, will extend, at a small step-up in the price payable each year when exercised, for a period of over four years, and will not expire until January 2, 1934.

The increase in the securities included in the Allotment Certificates and the reduction in price will apply to all subscriptions whether paid in cash or securities.

The $8 Interest Bearing Allotment Certificates of Associated Gas and Electric Company, as

- (a) Five shares of new General Gas & Elec tric Corporation Class A Common Stock (traded in on a when issued basis on the New York Curb Exchange, the old stock being listed on the New York Stock Exchange);
- (b) One-half share of Associated Gas and Electric Company $5 Preferred Stock;
- (c) Five new "Rights" to purchase Class A and Common Stock of Associated Gas and Electric Company.

Helders will also have the option of exchanging any allournent Certificate, after July 1, 1936, for either (a) al20 principal amount of 5% Convertible Gold Debentures, due 1966, of Associated Gas and Electric Company, convertible, at the helder's option, on and after November 15, 1933, and until November 15, 1943, into 1 ahare of 35.50 Dividend Preferred Steek of this Company at the rate of one share per $100 principal amount, or (b) $100 principal amount of such Debentures and either scrip for 1.5 share of 35.50 Dividend Preferred Stock or 5 new Stock Purchase Rights; interest to be adjusted on any such exchange.

"Rights" to subscribe have been mailed to all stockholders of Associated Gas and Electric Com-pany and General Gas & Electric Corporation and to certain other security holders entitled to them.

Such "Rights" to subscribe are "listed" and may be purchased by persons not stockholders through their security dealers, banks and at any of the of-fices of our operating companies or from the As-sociated Gas and Electric Securities Company, 61 Broadway, New York City.

AUDITS vary in quality and scope. The Quality depends upon the experience, ability and application of the auditor; the Scope is a matter of your instruction.

Of course, Every Audit should be a Detailed Audit. This is an expert and independent study in detail of the items represented in mass by balance sheet figures. It discloses the many important facts underlying the figures; verifies; clarifies. It brings to light avoidable leaks and wastes; finds the flaws in accounting, in credit and collection methods; points to possibilities for greater profits, and is free from qualified statements of the balance sheet audit.

The Balance Sheet Audit, in spite of obvious limitations, when properly made is more than a mere building up of statements from book figures without careful analysis and substantiation.

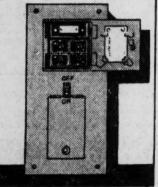

The Balance Sheet Audit can be ordered with a specification calling for a partial Detailed Audit covering a period sufficiently long to give at least a cross section of the business and a picture of actual conditions.

DAY IN FINANCE By R. L. BARNUM

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—Stocks opened from a fraction to 2 points lower and then declined from 2 to 11 points. Shortly before noon Stell common, General Electric and other Copper shares were soft on wideleading shares met support checking the decline and bringing about a re-

In the early trading the ticker dropped 15 minutes behind the stock exchange floor. On the recovery the ticker caught up, indicating more activity on the decline than the retivity on the decline than the recovery.

Usually well informed Wall Street circles do not expect much stock market activity one way or the other for the remainder of this week, which ends Wednesday. Some profit taking is expected before the close Wednesday. Large profits are shown on many stocks purchased since the bottom was touched November 13. The average professional trader would rather have a clean slate over a holiday lasting four days. The average professional trader figures that many things one way or the other might happen between the closing Wednesday night and the opening next Monday morning.

Second, a variation of the first from New York to Atlanta, thence either to Birmingham or Montgomery and on to New Orleans, Houston and El Paso, where the same route will be followed on to southern California. Third, from New York to Pittsburgh and St. Louis, thence on to Tulsa and Texas points before picking up the same trail in Arizona. Fourth, a variation of the third calling for an extension from St. Louis to Kansas City, thence in a more direct line to California. One Atlantan Present.

Although Atlanta should be vitally terested in the selection of one of the two proposed routes through southern territory, the city had only one representative at the hearing, T. M. Smith, chairman of the aviation committee of the city council. He made a brief appearance before the inter-departmental committee, headed by As-sistant Postmaster-General W. Irving Glover, in charge of air mail opera-tions, and expressed the hope that one of the Atlanta routes would be

Representa-tive Carl Vinson, of Georgia, was likewise on hand to urge the feasibility of such a route being included, but made only a brief statement when the one of the most imposing delegations at the hearing and presented an elab orate series of charts to support its bid for the service. Nevertheless, advocates of the Nevertheless, advocates of the southern routes were well represented, delegations being in attendance from Birmingham, Montgomery, Mobile, several Mississippi cities, as well as the principal cities of Louisiana and Texas, all of which were prepared to urge the greater desirability of the second trans-continental passing over their borders. Arguments presented by their borders. Arguments presented by these delegations were all in behalf of one or the other of the two routes touching Atlanta.

Congressman Speaks.

The morning session of the hearing, The morning session of the hearing, which lasted all day, was given over to brief statements by members of the house and senate from the states affected. There must have been raore than a dozen congressmen and senators present Songtons Coppelly of Texas; Ransdell, of Louisiana, and Heflin, of Alabama, led the group supporting one of the Atlanta airways, while Congressmen Dyer and Cochran, of Missouri, headed the delegations t ging the St. Louis route.

The St. Louis delegation distinctly made the most favorable impression, giving evidence of having made extenpreparations for the hearing. Fig-based on official data were cited point of weather conditions, distance and the industrial activities of the area served this route would demand greater consideration than either of the more southern lines proposed. It was shown that the great circle distance from New York to southern California via St. Louis and Tulsa was only one mile further than that from only one mile further than that from New York to Los Angeles by way of Atlanta, Birmingham and Dallas, the former being 2.818 and the latter 2,817. The New Orleans deviations was given as 3,050.

On the weather score, St. Louis delegation also insisted flying conditions were about the same, citing several government records over a period of the past 10 years. As pointed out in subsequent statements of the Atlanta advocates, however, they failed to mention bad weather factors based on snow and sleet, of which the southern route is practically free.

Despite the better showing made in behalf of St. Louis, however, information from well informed sources is that the inter-departmental committee is prepared to give greater considera-

Already two bids have been filed with the postoffice department to undertake the service once it is recommended. Assistant Postmaster-General Glover last revealed that the offers to accept a contract have been received from Southern Sky Lines, Inc., on the Atlanta-Dallas route, and the southwest air fast express, on the St.
Louis-Tulsa route. Both companies are operated by Earle Halliburton, of Oklahoma.

McAdoo Present.

William Gibbs McAdoo, former secretary of the treasury, attended the hearings today as the legal representative of the two companies. In a brief statement he informed the official committee that Mr. Halliburton, as head of the two companies, was prepared to start the service immediately and urged that an early decision be reached.

Members of the committee, including Assistant Secretary of Commerce Clarence Young, in charge of aviation matters there, indicated that it would be several months before an announcement may be made.

Among the several congressmen on hand were members of the house appropriations committee who assured the inter-departmental group that regardless of which route is selected, congress will be found ready to appropriate the necessary funds for lighting the course.
